Smiling is the best way of making friends.

When I was thirteen 21 old, my family moved to a new city. I also came to a(an) 22 school near where we lived. At first, I did not know anyone in my class. I was very lonely 23 I was afraid to make friends with my classmates. I 24 talk to anyone about my problem, and I didn't want my parents to 25 me.

Then one day, something good happened. I was 26 at my desk unhappily as usual while my classmates were talking happily with each other. At that moment, 27 came into the classroom. I didn't know who he was. He passed me and then turned back. He looked 28 me and, without a word, smiled. Suddenly, I felt happy and warm. That smile changed my life. I started to talk with the other classmates and made friends. Day by day, I became 29 to everyone in my class.

Thanks to the 30, I have moved on to a new life. Now, I believe that the world is what you think it is. So smile at the world and it will smile back.

A

Students usually learn many subjects at school, like Chinese, English, maths and physics. Many students think it's hard to do well in maths. They say it's boring. Why do they say so? First, some maths questions are so hard for them. They spend a lot of time on them, but they can't work them out, so they lose heart. Second, they are afraid to ask their teachers for help. They think the teachers will laugh at them. Third, they think maths classes are very tiring because they need to use their brains to find out the answers all the time.

How can you do well in maths? Here is some advice:

1. Listen to the teacher carefully in class and do some more exercises after class.
2. Ask the teacher for help if you don't understand anything. Don't be afraid.
3. Don't forget to go over your lessons.

If you do these things, you will find it much easier to do better in maths.

Frank is a French man. He can't speak any English. One day, he went to New York by plane. When he arrived, he took a taxi to a hotel near the airport.

It was a Sunday morning. He went out for a walk. He saw some English words on the gate of the hotel and wrote them down in his notebook. "Now I know the name of the hotel." he said to himself, "It will be easy for me to walk back. And I don't need to take a taxi or a bus."

He walked for a long time in the city. In the afternoon, he felt tired and wanted to go back. He took out the notebook and showed the words to a man and a woman. But neither of them knew what he wanted.

Then he saw a police station. A policewoman there knew some French, so he showed her his notebook and asked her where the hotel was. The policewoman laughed and said, "It says 'Welcome to Our Hotel'."

There was a 10-year-old boy whose left arm was damaged, and afterwards had to be cut off. He decided to learn judo(柔道). His teacher was an old Chinese judo expert.

The boy learnt quickly. However, after three months, he had been taught only one move. He asked his teacher to teach him more moves. The teacher told him that this one move was all he would need. Soon after, the boy entered a tournament. He quickly advanced to the finals. In the final, he had to fight an opponent who was much bigger and more experienced than him. After a long match, his opponent seemed to lose concentration(专心). Quickly, the boy took advantage. He overcame his opponent and although he was much smaller than his opponent, he pinned him to the ground. He was the winner.

On the ride home, the boy asked his teacher, “How could I win with only one move?” The teacher replied, “You have learnt to do one of the most difficult moves in all of judo. And the only defence(保护) against that move is for your opponent to grab your left arm.”

Sometimes your biggest weakness can become your greatest strength.

阅读以下短文,选出每题的正确答案。

Once upon a time, a hippo (河马) lived in a river next to a big tree.

One day, a bird came and nested (筑巢) in the tree. The songs of the bird filled the hippo with so much envy (嫉妒) that he couldn't think of anything else. Every day he would think why he wasn't born to be a bird even though the bird told him many times he was so lucky to be so big and such a good swimmer.

Finally, the hippo made up his mind that he would come out of the river, climb the tree, and start singing. However, when he tried to climb the tree, it was very clear that the hippo didn't have wings, nor claws to climb with.

Realizing that he would never climb up the tree, he angrily hit the tree until it came crashing to the ground. Then he stepped onto the leaves of the fallen tree, and began singing.

Unfortunately, the hippo can't sing, either. All that came from his mouth were terrible noises, and when the other animals heard this, they all came around to make fun of the hippo.

He was so ashamed by this. He also felt bad about having knocked the tree over. He used all his strength to raise the tree back up again, and look after it until it completely recovered (康复).

- () 31. The hippo envied the bird because the bird could _____.

A. was happy all the time B. did not respect his friends
C. liked to talk a lot but did nothing D. corrected his mistake when he realized it
- () 34. From the passage, we can infer (推断) that the hippo would _____ after such an experience.
A. be a good singer B. be good at climbing trees
C. stop envying the bird D. not make friends with other animals
- () 35. The best title of this passage may be “_____”.
A. The Hippo that Wished to Sing B. The Tree that Was Knocked Over
C. The Bird that Wished to Swim D. The Animals that Were in High Spirits

B

At my primary school, I was one of the smartest kids there. I never studied, but always got perfect scores. I thought I was born clever. At least I believed so. I was also a prodigy in music according to myself. I could sing better than almost everyone else in my school. I was pretty sure that once I got to sixth grade, everyone would be surprised by me.

But actually, they weren't.

When I arrived at my new class, I couldn't wait to show everyone what I could do. However, there was always someone else who could do them better. My grades began to suffer. More talented (有天资的) girls often sang solos (独唱). I believed I wasn't smart. I believed I wasn't talented. I believed I was a failure.

Over the next two years, I had to work very hard. Every prize for the singing competition was given to me for hard work and effort. Grades were still very low but improving little by little. I worked really hard. However, I was never the best at everything.

I haven't realized until recently that I really don't have to be the best at everything. I was too hard on myself. In fact, when I did badly in a test, my classmates never laughed at me.

No one is perfect. There will probably always be someone better than me at something. Anyway, there are about seven billion people in this world. I will never be the number one at everything, and that's really okay.

- () 36. What does “a prodigy” probably mean in English?
A. A smart kid. B. A crazy fan.
C. A common child. D. A lazy girl.
- () 37. When the writer was at the new class, _____.

A. She won many prizes without any effort.
B. She found the best way to become perfect.
C. She gave up trying because of the low scores.
D. She failed to be perfect though she worked hard.
- () 39. What has the writer realized recently?
A. There is no success without effort.
B. Being talented is the key to success.
C. Don't expect too much of yourself.
D. It's not necessary to care about the result.
- () 40. Which would be the best title for this passage?
A. I Wasn't Perfect B. My Past Life as a Young Girl
C. Hard Work Doesn't Work D. When You're Not Perfect
