Nowadays a lot of students have developed a fear of tests in school life. Most students are afraid of tests, mainly because they don't have enough self-confidence and they don't always think they are well-prepared. To follow the tips below, it will not be difficult to overcome your fear of tests.

Students who know they are not well-prepared are usually those who fear test most. However, most students don't know when they are truly prepared for a test. As long as you know that you have studied well enough, you have a reason to believe you are well-prepared.

Be confident about yourself. Confidence before a test can bring two things: either you fail the test and feel as if your confidence was unfounded or you could actually do well in the test because of your confidence. Some students find that they experience the first result. However, this is only because those students might not have followed the first tip mentioned above. As long as you have studied hard enough, you will be more confident to succeed in a test.

Ask your teacher in advance about the material that is going to be covered in the test. In this way, you will know what you should prepare and you can get confidence in the test. But you have to be brave enough to ask. Most students do not ask unless their teachers give the information first, so make sure that you ask.

You should know that tests are only telling if you have got the knowledge, not how good or bad your IQ is. As long as you think that there is another test tomorrow, you can overcome your fear of a test. However, make sure that you're going to prepare well for the other tests.

Fear can be a problem in the process of achieving success. However, with the right attitude and preparations, you can overcome your fear of tests by using these tips.

- B. As long as we do well in the test.
C. As long as we can answer teachers' all questions.
D. As long as we can pass the test.

- () 39. What is the second tip mentioned in the article?
- A. You should know that tests are only telling if you have got the knowledge, not how good or bad your IQ is.
B. Believe you are well prepared as long as you know that you have studied well enough.
C. Be confident about yourself.
D. Ask your teacher in advance about the material that is going to be covered in the test.

Some people think only school children do not agree with their parents. However, it is not true.

Communication is a problem for parents and children of all ages. If it's hard for you to communicate with your parents, don't worry about it. Here is some advice for you to bridge the generation gap(代沟).

Don't argue(争辩) with your parents. Don't get to your parents when you are angry. Your parents probably won't consider your ideas if you are shouting at them. And you can't express yourself well if you are angry. Go someplace to cool off. Make sure you understand why you are unhappy. Then think about what you want to say to your parents. If you don't think you can speak to them at the moment, try writing a letter.

Try to reach a compromise(和解). Perhaps you and your parents disagree on something. You can keep your disagreement and try your best to accept each other. Michael's mother didn't agree with him about buying a motorcycle. They argued over it. But they finally came to a compromise. Michael bought the motorcycle, but only drove it on certain days.

Of course, your parents might refuse to compromise on something. In these situations, it is especially important to show love and respect(尊敬) to them. Showing respect will keep your relationship strong.

Talk about your values. The values of your parents are probably different from those of your own. Tell your parents what you care about, and why. Understanding your values might help them see your purposes in life.

A good relationship with your parents can make you a better and happier person. It is worth having a try!

 A. Parents and other people.

Would you like to live in a city where buildings turn the lights off for you, and self-driving cars will find the nearest parking space themselves? Although it might sound a little far from you, living in a "smart" city like this could happen sooner than you think.

Great changes have taken place in towns that we have lived in for centuries, while completely new cities are being built. One such place is the city of Songdo. Every home there will have a "tele-presence" system(远程遥控系统)—allowing users to control the heating and looks, take part in video meetings, and receive education, healthcare and government services. Around the city, escalators(自动扶梯) will only move when someone is on them, and offices and schools will all be connected to the system.

The great mind behind Songdo is from the company Cisco. In fact, technology companies round the world such as IBM, Siemens and Microsoft are already in the business.

To us, it seems so natural to put up an umbrella to keep the water off when it rains. But in fact the umbrella was not invented as protection against the rain. Its first use was as a shade(遮蔽) against the sun.

Nobody knows who first invented it, but the umbrella was used in very ancient times. Probably the first to use it were the Chinese, back in the eleventh century B. C.

We know that the umbrella was used in ancient Egypt and Babylon as a sunshade. And there was a strange thing connected with its use; it became a symbol of honor and power(权力). In the Far East in ancient times, the umbrella was allowed to be used only by those in high office or by royal people such as the kings or queens.

In Europe, the Greeks were the first to use the umbrella as a sunshade. The umbrella was in common use in ancient Greece, but it is believed that the first people in Europe to use the umbrella as protection against the rain were the ancient Romans. During the middle ages in Europe, the use of the umbrella almost disappeared. Then it appeared again in Italy in the late sixteenth century. And again it became a symbol of power.

Umbrellas have not changed much in style during all this time, though they have become much lighter in weight. It wasn't until the twentieth century that the umbrellas for women began to be made in all kinds of colors.

Rain is very important for life. All living things need water to live. But in many places in the world, rain has become a danger. Pollution in the air and acid(酸; 酸的) gases from factories, cars, and homes are just a few of the things that can make rain poisonous. This kind of rain is known as acid rain.

Acid rain has a lot of bad effects. It damages buildings slowly. The acid eats into metal and stone and damages glass and plastics. In many places in the world, famous historical buildings are affected by acid rain and they have to be repaired because of the damage.

Acid rain is damaging to the health of human beings, too. The water we drink can be polluted by acid rain, which can damage the brain. Acid rain also has harmful effects on forests. The acid removes important minerals(矿物质) from the leaves and the soil. Without them, trees and other plants cannot grow properly. They lose their leaves, become weak and easily die.

The terrible effects of acid rain are most clear in places like streams and lakes. Even if the acid rain does not fall directly into a lake, it can enter from rivers and streams. Fish and plants cannot live in a polluted lake, so the lake at last "dies". For example, there are thousands of "dead" lakes in northern Europe that received so much acid rain that no life existed in them.

How to eat healthily can be especially complex for working women who often have neither the desire nor the time to cook for themselves (or for anyone else). Registered dietitian (营养专家) Barbara Morrissey suggests that a few simple rules can help.

“Go for nutrient dense foods,” she suggests. “Foods that contain a multiple of nutrients. For example, select whole wheat bread as a breakfast food, rather than coffee cake. Or drink orange juice rather than orange drink, which contains only a small percentage of real juice—the rest is largely colored sugar water. You just can’t compare the value of these foods; the nutrient dense ones are so superior,” she emphasizes.

Morrissey believes that variety is not only the spice of life—it’s the foundation of a healthful diet. Diets which are based on one or two foods are not only virtually impossible to keep up the strength, they can be very harmful, she says, because nutrients aren’t supplied in sufficient amounts or balance.

According to Morrissey, trying to find a diet that can cure your illnesses, or make you superwoman is a fruitless search. As women, many of us are too concerned with staying thin, she says, and we believe that vitamins are some kind of magic cure to replace food.

“We need carbohydrates, protein and fat—they are like the wood in the fireplace. The vitamins and minerals are like the match, the spark, for the fuel,” she explains. “We need them all, but in a very different proportions. And if the fuel isn’t there, the spark is useless.”

- () 36. From the Paragraph 1, we know that working women _____.
 A. think cooking is especially complicated
 B. do not share the same views with registered dietitians
 C. are busy and not interested in cooking
 D. are likely to eat healthfully
- () 37. Orange juice is different from orange drink in that _____.
 A. it contains only a small percentage of real juice
 B. it is natural, nutritious and prepared from real oranges

- () 38. In Paragraph 4, “a fruitless search” means _____.
 A. an effort with no results

 B. staying thin and healthy are both possible
 C. lack of variety in diets leads to staying thin
 D. vitamins are some kind of substitutions (替代品) for food

 D. without carbohydrates, protein and fat, vitamins and minerals are of no use

When the earthquake happens, we can take a cover under the desk or table or at the inside corner of the building. We must stay away from windows, glasses or something that can fall. After the earthquake, if you are trapped in the ruins, do not shout or move, try to cover your mouth with cloth. Tap a pipe or wall so that the rescuers will find you.

How's everything going? Thank you for letting me know the eating habits of your

In order to make our life healthy, we should eat different kinds of meat, vegetables and fruit. You told me that your father smokes a lot. Smoking is harmful to our health. You should tell your father not to smoke and help him give up smoking. What's more, you should stop eating fast food, try to eat more vegetables instead of fast food and snacks.

May 15th, Sunday

Sunny

We had a great time today. All the students and teachers of Class 5, Grade 3 went to Laoshan Mountain. We had fun playing there.

In the morning, we met each other in front of the gate of Laoshan Mountain. We took a lot of beautiful photos there. Then we began to climb the mountain. Although we felt tired while climbing the mountain, we were all very happy. We chatted with each other and helped each other along the way, and we saw a lot of beautiful sceneries in the mountain. After reaching the top, we sat down and had a rest. We took out our food and had a picnic. Then we sang together and danced together. What a wonderful day!
