Dear Mum and Dad,

How are you? I've just finished my lunch. I'm writing to you from my camp.

Yesterday we left school at 8:00 am. The camp is only 200 miles from our home, and the school bus got us here at noon. I share a room with three boys. Two of them know how to use computers. They're in Mr. Green's class. I'm learning how to use computers, so I am in Mrs. Brown's class. I have to design my own program this week. All of the campers have to. I want to design a game. Then I can teach it to you.

We must take part in two other activities every day. I am going to choose swimming and tennis. In my free time, I am going to play games on the computers. So are most of the campers. I like camping, but I don't like the food. It's very bad. We have our breakfast, lunch and supper in a very big room. When we are eating, everyone is talking and there's a lot of noise. I have to

The world is not only hungry but also thirsty for water. This may seem strange to you, since nearly 70% of the Earth's surface is covered with water. But about 97% of that is sea water or salt water. 1 And we can not even use all of that because some of it has been made dirty.

 2 The water that we use is the most important natural resource on the Earth. Today we face serious water problems. One of them is water pollution. All kinds of things from cars, factories, farms and homes make our rivers, lakes and oceans dirty. 3

Scientists say that in 30 years, more than half of the people in the world won't have enough clean water. We have to learn how to stop wasting water. 4 Today in most large cities, water is used only once and then sent out into a sewer (下水道) system. From there it returns to the sea or goes underground.

 5 So we should make use of sea water by removing the salt in it. If we can take these steps, fresh water won't be used up.

- A. We must remember how important water is.

B. Even though every large city reused its water, we would still not have enough.

C. Polluted water is very bad for people to drink. And dirty water is bad for fish, too.

D. One of the first steps is to develop ways of reusing it.

Modern life is impossible without traveling. The fastest way to travel is by air. With a modern plane you can travel in one day to places which might take a month or more to reach several hundred years ago.

Traveling by train is slower than by air, but it has its advantages. You can see the country you are traveling in. Modern trains have comfortable seats and dining cars. They make even the longest journey enjoyable.

Some people prefer to travel by sea when it is possible. There are large liners and river boats with which you can visit many other countries and different places. Traveling by sea is a very pleasant way to spend a holiday.

Many people like to travel by car. You can make your own timetable. You can travel three or four hundred miles or only fifty miles a day, just as you like. You can stop wherever you wish—where there is something interesting to see, at a good restaurant where you can enjoy a good meal, or a hotel to spend the night in. I was always worried about careless mistakes before. I often thought they were just about “not being careful”.

But over time, 1 We need to change how we work out problems. I start by understanding that everyone makes mistakes. 2 Accepting this makes me feel less stressed and helps me get better. For example, once I made a mistake in a math test because I was in a rush. Knowing it was common to mess up (搞砸) sometimes made me less hard on myself.

Later, 3 I write down what I did wrong and organize my mistakes. This helps me learn from my mistakes. I even add little notes on how I could do better next time.

Next, 4 For math, there are steps like checking answers. For writing, I review the paper and do a grammar check. Each time I feel worried, I take a deep breath, rethink my way and slow down my thinking. This helps me catch mistakes before they happen.

What’s more, I celebrate my improvements, no matter how small. 5 Like when I got one more question right in a quiz than last time, I treated myself to a small piece of chocolate. It really made me keep going and be more careful.

- A. It is simply a part of being human.

B. I decided to keep a journal of my mistakes.
