五、阅读理解(共 15 小题,每小题 2 分,共 30 分)

A

“I don't like my parents. They always tell me what I should do or not. It sometimes makes me angry,” said Wang Li, a junior high school student in Guangzhou. Do you have the same problem? Perhaps your parents had the same problem when they were your age long ago. Why does it seem that some parents are not so friendly in their children's eyes?

One of the most important reasons is when someone becomes a parent, he/she is always worrying about everything on you, from the time when you were born. They do a lot for you though something will make you angry because they care about you. They worry about your choices of friends, the food you eat, your work at school, how much sleep you get and so on. All are part of your life. They want you to grow up healthily and happily.

So how can you make things easier? It's easier than you think. Just make sure your parents know what you're doing. Get them to know your friends. Phone them if you get home later than usual. Say sorry to them when you make mistakes. Talk about your ideas with them. They may talk about theirs with you.

Most of all, try to think about why your parents do this in such a way. They are still practicing being parents and need help from you. When you become a parent, they may be able to help you know how to get on with your children.

C

You can't choose your family. Being born in a family is one of many choices you can't make. Your family help you choose your name, what you eat and wear, when to study, how to behave, and what to believe. Put all these together and you have a "family culture", which you can't choose but you help create. The family culture shapes who you are.

Every family culture is different. There are millions of families just like yours, but none are identical. My family is normal in some ways. My parents, a teacher and a worker, try their best to raise three children in a small village in England. It is important to be respectful, to try (even if we fail), and to take responsibility for our action. But what culture do we have? I think my family culture is simple—to live well and learn.

When Kate was young, she was punished for being dishonest, so honesty is very important to her. Li Xin, born in Shandong, lives a simple life. He works hard and is nice to others. He thinks positive family values (价值观) make good people. All families have their advantages and disadvantages. No family is perfect, but that doesn't matter.
